Please note the times of the Seeded Flights during the Golden Hour

The top flight in the 1A-2A and the top flight in the 3A-5A Long Jump and Shot Put, and the top flight in the High Jump and Pole Vault will be contested during the Golden Hour on Saturday.

Entry Limits - Each team can enter athletes into up to 25 events per gender. This means that each gender can only have 25 participations, regardless of how many athletes are involved. The relays, and the 3200 are not included in the 25 participations. Each athlete can participate in up to 4 events, including the relays. Qualifying marks must come from Utah 2017 state-qualifying meets. Marks can NOT be from meets outside of Utah.

Participation - The BYU Invitational is a UHSAA sanctioned high school competition. Each participant must be an eligible member of the track team of a member high school in good standing with the UHSAA or of the state association of a state that borders Utah. Unattached and independent participation is not allowed due to National Federation of High Schools rules. If all of these things are in place, then the team's coach is welcome to enter his/her athletes into the competition. Each athlete must represent his/her school. And, the school is responsible to pay the entry fee.

Field Events - There was overwhelming support among the coaches that responded to the survey to split out the flights and final by seed marks. I have given up attempting to predict how the flights will develop until I see the final numbers and the seed marks. Our best guess of the field event time schedule will be posted tomorrow once the meet has been seeded. Athletes in the horizontal jumps and the throws will be seeded into flights by division (large and small). The athletes in the vertical jumps will be grouped together in the flights. The athletes with the best seed marks will be seeded into the later flights. The top athletes in each division will be seeded into the elite flights, which will be held during the Golden Hour (except the throws; couldn't figure out how to do it). Each athlete in the early flights will be given three attempts; the top 9 athletes will be given 3 additional attempts. Each athlete in the elite flights will be given 6 attempts.

Coaches, please review the elite flights, which will be contested during the Golden Hour. We realize that there is the possibility that one of your athletes may be in too many events in a short time frame. If needed, we can scratch an athlete from one or more events at your request.

3200 - Timed Finals. All athletes will be pooled together. 60 athletes, 12 from each classification, are accepted into the meet. The top 12 athletes in each classification will be accepted. Each race will be split evenly into two sections of 30 athletes. The fastest athletes will be seeded into the second section.

1600 - Timed Finals. All athletes will be pooled together. Each race will be split evenly into sections of about 18 athletes, with the top 18 athletes, regardless of division, competing in the final section. The final section will be contested during the Golden Hour, with the other sections competing in the morning session.

800 - Timed Finals. All athletes will be pooled together. Each race will be split evenly into sections of about 15-18 athletes, with the top 15 athletes overall competing in the final section, the final having 15 athletes. The final section will be contested during the Golden Hour, with the other sections competing in the morning session.

Girl's Pole Vault - We will hold the event as long as there are 6 qualified girls in a classification that start the event. That means that the girls must be registered, check-in and start the event. If there are less than 6 competitors in one of the classifications and the other classification does have 6, the girls in the incomplete classification will be allowed to participate with the other classification as non-scoring competitors.

Races running Heats/Finals - Athletes will be pooled by division (small and large) and seeded separately by division into heats, using serpentine parameters. The top 9 athletes from each division will advance to the finals. The 18 advancing athletes will be grouped together and seeded into two sections, with the top athletes running in the second section, regardless of division.

Relays - The top 9 relays from each classification will be accepted into the meet. Please enter your alternate relay members in positions 5 and 6. The final section will be contested during the Golden Hour, with the other sections competing in the morning session.

Registration - Registration will close on Tuesday, April 28th, at 7:00 a.m. sharp!

Check-in - All athletes must check-in at least 60 minutes prior to your event. Athletes that are not checked in on time may be scratched from the competition.

Reporting - Athletes must report to the bullpen when called. The posted start time is designed to be when each event should start and does not include time for warm-up. Field event athletes will be escorted from the bullpen by meet officials at least 10 minutes prior to each start time.

Entry Fees - Entry fees are $5 per athlete. Each team will be responsible to pay for each athlete entered into the meet through their account, regardless of whether the athlete actually does participate. The number of athletes in your roster that are registered into events when registration closes will determine your team entry fees. Please DO NOT bring payment to the meet. It is most efficient for our financial department to send an invoice to your school after the meet. Thanks for your support!

"Golden Hour" - Most event finals will be run during the day on Saturday, with the top sections of the finals being run during the "Golden Hour" from 3:00 to 5:00 in the afternoon. Friday during the day and Saturday in the morning will be the time of the majority of the qualifying rounds for the track events. Field events will be scheduled across both days, with many elite flights being held during the Golden Hour.

Top Athletes Head-to-head - All finals will consist of 1 or 2 sections. In general, 9 athletes from the large schools and 9 athletes from the smaller schools will advance to a final. The top 9 athletes will compete in the 2nd section, regardless of whether they are large or small school athletes. This will allow for the top athletes to compete head-to-head whether they be a large or a small school athlete and will enable the exciting "Golden Hour" on Saturday afternoon of most of the top athletes in the meet. We have medals just the same as last year. We will present medals to the top 3 athletes in each division, regardless of where they place in their respective races, or which race they compete in. Remember that the Golden Hour will generally have two sections of finals. Both sections will be run during the Golden Hour for most races. The only exceptions are some of the relays.

Team Scoring - Team scoring will be the same as always. Large school athletes will be scored against large school athletes, whether they competed in the same section or not. Small school athletes will be scored against small school athletes, whether they competed in the same section or not. Field events will be held over the two days.

Team Packet pickup - Packet pickup for teams will be available on Friday morning. Please DO NOT bring payment to the meet. It is most efficient for our financial department to send an invoice to your school after the meet. Thanks for your support!
